La Providence	The French Hospital, founded in 1718, now at its fourth home in Rochester, Kent.
La Soupe	Soup kitchens that operated in London in the 18 th Century for poor Huguenots.

Notes:

Married women were often referred to by their maiden names.

Spelling of words and names is often inconsistent; other names are anglicised. Cross referencing is therefore essential.

See the next page for examples of the usage of the above vocabulary. Much more information can be gleaned from Huguenot church register entries than from their English equivalents of the same period.
