

OPTIONS FOR RESEARCHING AN ANCESTOR YOU BELIEVE MAY BE HUGUENOT

1) VISIT THE HUGUENOT LIBRARY

The Huguenot Library holds all the Huguenot Society's publications, comprising mainly the 62 volumes of the Quarto Series and the 29 volumes of Proceedings, renamed in 2013 the Huguenot Society Journal. It also holds pedigrees compiled by the Victorian researcher Henry Wagner, Family Research files covering particular surnames, a vast collection of printed books and many unique manuscript and archive resources.

The Library has moved, temporarily, to the National Archives in Kew (with UCL Special Collections). If you wish to visit, please contact the Society's Librarian to make an appointment at:

library@huguenotsociety.org.uk or by telephone on 020 7679 2046, to discuss the material you wish to see. The Librarian can make a limited search of the surname indexes of the Library's main publications and research files, prior to your finalising the appointment, if you need confirmation that there are occurrences of the name in our published records. However, these occurrences of a surname may not concern your particular ancestor(s) and it would be up to you to trace any link.

For further information on the Library and a link to its online catalogue, see

<http://www.huguenotsociety.org.uk/library-and-archive.html>

2) VISIT ALTERNATIVE LIBRARIES HOLDING THE SOCIETY'S PUBLICATIONS

If you wish to do your own research at a library or archive nearer to you, the Family History page on the Huguenot Society's website (<https://www.huguenotsociety.org.uk/family-history.html>) has leaflets which give guidance on sources and their use. It also has downloadable lists of other libraries in the UK and abroad which hold the Huguenot Society's publications (Quarto Series and Proceedings).

You can find a full list of the Quarto Series titles at <http://www.huguenotsociety.org.uk/publications/quarto.html>. Before visiting any library/archive listed, you are advised to check whether they hold the particular volumes of interest to you and whether you need to request them in advance.

3) PURCHASE THE SOCIETY'S PUBLICATIONS

Most of the Society's publications are available for purchase, either as printed volumes or as CD-ROMs. For details, see <http://www.huguenotsociety.org.uk/publications.html>.

4) CONTACT A PROFESSIONAL RESEARCHER

If you wish specific professional research to be done concerning your particular Huguenot ancestor(s), the following approved freelance researcher can be contacted directly:

- Dr Kathleen Chater: 112 Meath Road, London E15 3DR.
Email: untoldhistories@live.co.uk

A quotation will be provided for the work. It is hoped, in the context of a reciprocal arrangement between the Huguenot Society and approved researchers using the Huguenot Library for their professional research, that a copy or a summary of the research report will, where possible, be deposited in the Library's Family Research files for the benefit of future readers.

The Huguenot Society cannot accept responsibility for any opinion given or research undertaken on either a paid or voluntary basis, or for any delay that may occur during the course of the research.
